Dogscapes is a locally owned and operated pooper scooper business. Need we say more? Well, as it turns out, people are quite enthusiastic about Michael Sinnott's service. They would run around in the yard giving everyone high-fives about it (but only after the service has been rendered).

"We offer year around service so our clients can enjoy a healthy, happy environment for their pet and their family," Sinnott says. He goes on to say homeowner associations and apartment complexes are a big part of his business, as well as individual residential and commercial properties.

"The pooper scooper service is a growing industry," Sinnott says, "and it's currently underrepresented in the Roanoke Valley. I love dogs and working outside. I saw a need and decided that I could fill it with professional service."

Being able to simply stroll through your own yard seems like such a natural expectation. Dogscapes is a bit of an uncommon business serving a need that is all too common. That's a doggone solid plan.
